Module Content	You will apply your learning from Performance 1-3 to an additional performance activity. This activity will usually involve ensemble interaction, but other modes of assessment may be permitted. Consult the Departmental Guidance in the BMus Handbook for further information. If you have been assigned to a large-ensemble Artistic Planning activity, you may be able to use this performance opportunity towards your module assessment. For further details consult the Departmental Guidance in the BMus Handbook for the current year of study. You will negotiate the performance activity (and associated rehearsals) involved in this module with your Head of Department or a member of staff nominated by your Head of Department. Note: retrospective assessment is not permitted under any circumstances. In most cases the learning on this module will include involvement in rehearsals, independent practice and public performance; activities may also include audio/video recordings, workshops and collaboration with composers in the rehearsing or commissioning of new work, and the documentation of those processes. Students should be able to provide a rationale for their choices in their Viva examination (assessed within the Performance Module).
